How well-connected are you with your inner American? Below follows a compilation of facts known by every american from the Bar Harbor lighthouse to the Golden Gate bridge. Even Pedro, the illegal immigrant gardener, has come to learn and cherish this knowledge that mends the people of America together. And when I say America, of course I mean the United States of America. It's not like the other countries on the continent count. Anywho, your task is to connect with that inner American of yours and kick some serious quiz-butt.
